Government, now that the petty Balkan State has in effect refused to grant its demands, is eagerly awaited. The exchange of notes been the powers is actively proceeding. It s stated here that Bulgaria has sent copies land, Austra, Italy and Germany. It has been learned that Bulgaria's note is volumi-nous. It gives in detail all the points of Bulgaria's defence of her action in expelling M. Chadouine from the country. It claims that the conduct of M. Chadouine, which it characterizes as intolerable, was brought to the otice of M. Lanel last November, M. Lanel ent as to the state of the case, and as to ine if he continued in his objectionable

The note cites precedents showing that several Russians, one Greek and two French-men had been expelled from the country. These two Frenchmen, the note says, were expelled without Bulgaria previously advising France of her action and the latter power had made no protest against their expulsion. The note concludes by declaring it cannot be admitted that Bulgaria is bound to practically abdicate her powers, as she would have done had she previously communicated to the French Consul or to M. Chadouine the order for the expulsion of M. Chadouine, thus enabling him to take refuge in the French Consulate.

The note expresses the hope that France will be actuated by feelings of justice; that she will reconsider her decision and that she will again establish friendly relations with

A STRAIGHT JACKET.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—According to the latest accounts of the condition of M. de Maupassant there is little hope for his recovery. He is suffering from general paralysis. It is feared that his recent novel, "Hooria," was written while he was almost delirious with neuralgia, and that his condition imparted to the work a nightmare-like character. M. de Maupassant has tried hot climates and morphia without avail. His doctors insisted that he must lead a life of idleness. Maupassant, however, disregarded their instructions. A servant heard him rush about the room, knocking his head and complaining of the sterility of his brain. He exclaimed excitedly:

render assistance to him he struggled desperately and it took the combined strength of several strong men to hold him down while the doctors sewed up the gaping wound in his throat. His paroxysms of violence continue, and since his attempt on his life he has been kept in a straight waist-coat.

THE ENGLISH ESTATE DELUSION AGAIN EXPOSED BY MINISTER LINCOLN.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Hon. Robert L. Lincoln, the United States Minister, being interviewed regarding the truth of the statement which has been published that John Elliott, a pauper of Springfield, Mass., had fallen heir to an English estate valued at $4,000,000, and that Mr. Blaine, the American Secretary of State, had instructed him (Mr. Lincoln) to assist the English lawyers in securing the estate for the heir. When Mr. Lincoln was informed of the object of the interview he laughed heartily and said:

"This is modest. The estate is usually valued at £15,000,000. We get these statements and inquiries continually. We have a printed reply which we post to all such inquirers. The Elliott story is absolutely untrue."

SEWARD COUNTY.

The Attack on Sheriff Dunn and His Deputles and the Murder of the Brave Officer-Botkin Proceeds to Hold Court, Surrounded by an Armed Escort-Stevens County Vendetta.

ARKALON, Kan., Jan. 6, 3 p. m .- Everything is in a high fever of excitement yet this morning over the atroclous murder of Sheriff Dunn yesterday, Judge Bot-kin spent the night here and is in town now arranging to go to Springfield to open court. Adjt.-Gen. Roberts with United States troops will arrive here to-day at 5:30 and will at once proceed to Springfield to vigorously push the matter of bringing the murderous mobs to justice. A body of armed citizens will accompany Judge Botkin in a few minutes and there is no telling what the result will be. Warrants are now out for the arrest of thirty men and there troublous times are expected. Under Sheriff Larabee is now in possession of the warrants and will begin the work of making the arrests to day.

That there will be resistance no one doubts. The parties for whom the warrants are out number among them some desperate men, who belong to the cow-boy period of civilization in Southwestern Kansas. They are me who delighted to be known as friends and intimates of the Wild Bills and the Luke Shorts, whose lawless records are matters of Kansas history and have filled the columns of Eastern newspapers.

There are fears that Judge Botkin may be ssassinated on the bench. A score of men have publicly proclaimed that he shall die, to avenge the death of Sam Wood, for whose killing the Woodsdale faction hold him re await the arrival of the troops from Topeka, but he has resolved to go with the volunteer who are ready to accompany him. Judge Botkin sends the following letter to

Mrs. Dunn to-day: ARKALON, Kan., Jan. 6, 1892.

AT SPRINGFIELD. BUCKLIN, Kan., Jan. 6,-Adjt.-Gen. Roberts received information by wire here from Arkalon that the enemies of Judge Bodtkin are in possession of the Court-house at Springfield, and that Judge Botkin has not left Arkalon as he determined to do.

BOTKIN'S NERVE.

HE WILL HOLD COURT IF HE IS NOT KILLED EN ROUTE TO SPRINGFIELD. GREENSBURG, Kan., Jan. 6 .- Judge Theodosius Botkin has declared that he will pen the District Court of Seward County at Springfield if he is not killed on the way to the Court-house. This place is seventy documents relating to the taking of herring in Newfoundland waters by and for Americans. disclose a depth of rascality, so far as the chief actors in the business are concerned, and a recklessness and folly as regards the interests of the Newfoundland people of which the infatuated followers of the Bonds will-o'-the-wisp will be ashamed. way to the Court-house. Adjt.-Gen. J. O. Roberts of Topeka passed this place at 10 o'clock this morning with two companies of the State militia, numbersolders will go into camp on the bleak prairie with the north wind blowing forty knots an hour.

It is probable that one company will proceed to Woodsdale, a stronghold of the ambushers, forty miles west of Springfield, to morrow morning. The Adjutant-General declares that the presence of the soldiers is to prevent bloodshed rather than to cause it, and great care will be taken in proceeding against the two towns.

Each company is supplied with 1,000 rounds of ammunition, which is sufficient to annihilate all Southwestern Kansas:

The Rock Island Railway offered to take Judge Botkin out of Arkaion yesterday on a special train, but he refused to go, after the train had reached Arkaion. Before that they offered a crew and a hand car to take him away, but he refused this offer also, and said he would stay and protect his family. With Sam Dunn killed, Judge Botkin's chief supporter is no more.

THE ASSASSINS' WORK.

MURDEROUS METHODS OF THE STEVENS

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 6.—The assassins of the vendetta are close on the trail of Judge Bot kin. And although a military force has been dispatched to the scene of yesterday's cowardly attack and murder, they may prove powerless for the Judge's protection. The latest advices from Springfield, county-seat of Seward County, near where the attempt was made to waylay and kill Judge Botkin. indicate that for the time being the men who have sworn to be avenged for Sam Woods' death may postpone their purpose. But the end can easily be foretold.

This bloody vendetta, originally confined to Stevens County, has spread to the adjoining county of Seward. Three weeks ago Judge. Botkin was warned by a friend in the enecounty of Seward. Three weeks ago Judge to Botkin was warned by a friend in the enemy's confidence that a plan had been laid to assassinate him on his way to open court at Springfield. The Judge was inclined to look lightly upon the subject until day before yesterday, when he was again warned. Then precautions were taken; Sheriff Dunn, Sheriff elect Guyman and four deputies came to the honse where the Judge was, which is about three miles from Springfield. It was learned that an ambustand cade would be laid in a ravine through which the Judge must pass on his way into town. Just before daybreak the Sheriff, Guyman, and four deputies went out to frustrate the attempt and walked right into a moo of forty men from Springfield and Woodsdale. The Sheriff's party did the best it could against the assassins, but Sheriff Dunn, Sheriff elect Guyman and Deputy Nixon were sent to fall. Then the rest fled for their lives to Springfield, where they made a report of what had happened. As soon as the mob cleared away a party went out and found Dunn's body riddled with bullets. Guyman had escaped with a wound by lying low in the grass and Xixon, after being shot, crawled away through the brish.

When the news reached Springfield Mrs. Larabee showed herself a heroine by walking three miles and a string at the Grand Pacine Hotel.

I will leave for Topeks to-night. Communicate with me for further orders. Act judiclossly, but firmly. It seems to me that more than one company will be necessary.

An order was sent from Topeks immediately upon receipt of this message, asking Col. Ricksecker to meet the train at Hutchinson this morning at 7 o'clock with Company A of the First Regiment. Adt. Gen. Roberts will take charge of the troops, and has already gone to the scene of trouble. The Foraker figures are not given by his supporters. They only say he has a chance yet. No dispassionate observer here believes Sherman will get fewer than fifty-two votes, which would give him a majority of eleven votes. Foraker hangs his greatest hope on a secret ballot. Sherman insists on an open ballot, in accordance with all precedents in the caucus for the election of Republican Senators. Foraker was suspected of securing pledges of votes for a secret ballot. bigamy will also be instituted against Anderson. It will be remembered, as telegraphed at the time, that on the 50th of last month John Anderson and wife registered at the Forest City Hotel in this city from St. Louis, Mo.

They were on their bridal tour. The next morning the bride was left sans money, sans hisband, sans love, for John had picked up his wardrobe, gone through hers and fled, while she slept. Mrs. Anderson's name, prior to her last marriage, was Mrs. Ellen Furcell, and she was a blooming widow, doing a thriving business at 328 Montrose avenue, St. Louis.

Then John Anderson came along and courted her so gallantly that she yielded to him her heart, but kept her hand, as she supposed, on the purse. He claimed to have a ranch at San Miguel, Cal., and asserting that the shortest way to reach San Miguel was via Cleveland, they came lither. She drew her savings, some $1,200, from the bank and sewed them in the skirt of her traveling dress. The next morning after their arrival here Anderson took an early breaktast; but his wife was an hour or so later at the table, and ate very leisurely. When she returned to her room the skirt with the money had been cut open. The bank notes were gone; so was Anderson. Anderson was traced and arrested in Albany, N. RIN THE GAUNTLET.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 6.—A band of masked men attempted last Wednesday night to rob the Missouri Pacific south-bound passenger train at West Side, in the suburbs of this city, where the express car was successfully robbed some time ago. Their arrangements were spoiled by Engineer "Daisy" bean, who sent the train past them at full speed, the robbers firing into the train as it passed. Conductor Locke telegrabhed to headquarters and detectives were at once put on the case. Missouri Pacific Railroad officials and those of the Pacific Express tried to suppress the news.

He has as much chance of becoming President of the United States. It would be easier to often the United States than in Nexico. Hurbide is a young man without the means or the following or ability to make an attempt even towards political prominers. He is a pleasant gentleman socially and that is all.

The minister treated the whole matter lightly, as not deserving of serious consider. BIG HAUL BY BUBGLARS. KANSAS CITT, Jan. 6.—Burglars made a big raid last night on the residence of Joseph H. Corle, President of the Corle & Son Oatmeal & Cereal Co. They made a systematic attack on Mr. Corle's possessions, and took jewelry valued at $3,000 and papers said to be worth $70,000 to Mr. Corle. Mr. Corle lives at 1232 Washington street, and was at supper with his family when thieves entered the place. In addition to the jewelry and valuable papers, the thieves took $990 in cash. The detectives are now hard at work on the case.

TO SUPPRESS DOGGERIES. BRINKLEY, Ark., Jan. 6.—A Law and Order League was organized here last night by prominent citizens of the town for the suppression of doggerles and other places of vice. A committee of fifty citizens called on Mayor Grothe to resign and he refused. The people in the league claim that all the recent robberles and cutting affrays were due to the saloons of the town.

DRUNKEN ROWDIES. MILAN, Tenn., Jan. 6.—Will Crocker and Albert Sanders got on a drunk here last night. Two men were assaulted by the youths both of whom will probably die. They then burned the lilinois Central tank at idlewild and destroyed $1,500 worth of machinery. Sanders was captured and jatied here.

Being shown a copy of the dispatch, he read the story through slowly and replied: "This is the first time I have seen it."

"Is it true that you are connected with the Garza revolution?" was asked.

"This is the first I have heard of this," he replied.

"The report is false, then?"

"I know nothing about it," he said, shifting in his seat.

"Were you identified with the clerical party when in Mexico?" questioned the reporter.

"k would rather not talk of these matters," replied the heir of Maximilian.

"Is it a fact that you are a candidate for the presidency?"

ADDRESS OF SENATOR MORRILL IN REPLY TO THE SPEECH OF MR. STEWART.

VASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6 .- Mr, Morrill addressed the Senate in criticism of the speech heretofore made by Mr. Stewart and in opposition to the bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. He said:

Ilmited colnage of silver. He said:

The financial instrumentalities and monetary affairs of the country are of such transcendent importance, bouching not only the pocket of every citiven, but the honor and general welfare of the whole people, that it must be conceded that they deserve to be discussed as questions of national gravity and not merely as partisan or campaign topics of local or ephenment in right and to speak the truth, but this may compel me, in the plainest words, to criticise erroneous and mischlevous theories and to present such facts and arguments as appear to be conclusive in support of the public credit and that sound standard of money which would abide forever, and in harmony with the money of the most enlightened Christian nations.

When they found it was discovered that the great corporations were the largest debtors of the country three was, the parties to whom was to be offered the cheaper money with which to discharge obligations incurred upon a gold discharge obligations incurred upon a gold discharge obligations whose sole surplus was the loan deposit in a savings bank. It would be seen that it was very largely the great corporations which would reap where they had not sown.

The silver-tongued orators promised to give silver as cheap money and in the next breath promised to bring it up to the par of gold. Somebody was to be cheated. Who was it? One promise or the other must prove false. ist prove faise. In conclusion Mr. Morrill said:

In conclusion Mr. Morrill said:

Ihave attempted to demonstrate, first, That the depreciation of silvar is both so great and universal that unlimited coinage could not be maintained on the present standard with gold, but would saddauly wreck the country by a silver revolution.

Becond, that unlimited coinage would interdies all more and an enter that the silver standard would be equivalent to a horizontal reduction of tariff of 25 per cent, if not more, and an equal reduction of all pensions.

Fourth, that a silver standard would be equivalent to a horizontal reduction of tariff of 25 per cent, if not more, and an equal reduction of all pensions.

Fifth, that there is no escarcity of money in circulation, but, instead, the smount is twice as great as it was in 1878, and is increasing on a canter.

Fourth, that a silver standard would be equivalent to a horizontal reduction of all pensions.

Fifth, that there is no magic in any law of congress which can make the world accept an ounce of silver as worth any more in coin than in bullion.

Seventh, that there is no magic in any law of congress which can make the world accept an ounce of silver as worth any more in coin than in bullion.

ATTACKED BY A CAT.

Mr. Charles Seaport's Horrible Experience With a Feline.

THE WILD ANIMAL INFLICTS SERIOUS INJURIES ON HIM.

He Tried to Drive the Cat From the House and It Sprang Upon Him and Buried Its Teeth in His Flesh-A Bar Used to Disengage Its Jaws-A Ferocious Ant-

Mr. Charles Seaport of Mississippi and Park avenues, is deprived of the use of his hands, and is suffering great pain from a vicious attack with tooth and nail of a huge black cat. The fangs of the beast penetrated his right hand through and through between the thumb and index finger, and the left hand is badly scratched, and the index finger was torn to the very bone. The cat was anchored so strongly to the right-hand of Mr. Seaport, that the teeth of the animal had to be loosened with a powerful screw

A PRIGHTFUL EXPERIENCE. The occurrence, which was as startling as cat, happened Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock a room in the rear of Mr. Seaport's store. Mr. Seaport has just opened a notion store at the southeast corner of Mississippi and Park The store adjoins the dancing Academy of rofessor F. H. Woods. There is a lofty garrett above the dancing school, which port's apartments. The garret is dark and eads into the deserted stables of the People's Railway Co. Mr. Seaport had noticed that a great black cat was in the habit of jumping down from the garret into his rooms. He was busy laying a carpet Monday afternoon in the room which is beneath the busy laying a carpet Monday afternoon in the room which is beneath the opening from the garret. The cat leaped down, ran through a passage way into the next room. Mr. Seaport followed and made a peck at the beast. The cat then ran through a third room and entered the store. Mrs. Seaport was chatting with a lady and she became frightened at the appearance of the beast. The animal was black, jet black, and of unusual size. The limbs were great and strong, the eyes were of that peculiar glare which lend so much to the terror of a black cat. The first impulse of the ladles was to scream, and they uttered a joint note of fear that for a moment scared the cat and caused him to turn about and run back whence he came. Mr. Seaport had, in the meantime, followed after and stood at the farthermost door of the room next the store. The cat was running directly toward him and he stood in the way to reach the beast with his feet, when it came to the door where he was. The cat did not swerve, it did not turn, it showed no fear of him. It stopped a moment, it crouched at the distance of 10 feet from Mr. Seaport, and sprang upon him. The savage beast lit plump upon his breast, and strove with its claws to climb up to Mr. Seaport's face and eyes.

BURIED IN THE FLESH.

The unfortunate man saw at once that he must not quickly to save his eyes and his throat, and he grasped the beast by the nick. He tried with all his might to bear the brute to the ground. The cat writhed from his clutch. It turned and sunk its teeth in the right hand of Mr. Seaport. The long pointed fangs caught Mr. Seaport tried to protect himself. The cat tore his writs tayagely with its faugs. One claw tore the flesh from the first joint of the index finger of between the index finger and the thumb, and locked together. With the left hand Mr. Seaport tried to protect himself. The cat tore his wrist savagely with its fangs. One claw tore the flesh from the first joint of the index finger of the left hand and lifted the flesh and marrow to the bone, along the finger to the second joint. Mr. Seaport had fallen on his knees to the floor. The beast was fastened to his hand for fully five minutes when Mrs. Seaport fully five minutes when Mrs. Seaport lead of the conflict she ran out on the street and called for help. A cabman and some of the track men on the People's Railway responded. Mrs. Seaport ran to her husband's aid, and standing behind the cat, succeeded in unloosening the claws from Mr. Seaport's left hand, and holding them fast lest they might return. She then told her husband to shake the cat from his right band. He answered. 'I cannot—pry open the wretch's mouth!'' For the first time the onlookers realized the true nature of the cat's grip, and the cabman seized a long screw driver and forced the bar between the teeth of the cat. The fangs unloosened and Mrs. Seaport leaped away. 'Kill the brute!'' said the trackman, and he made for the cat with the long bar with which he cleans the slot. The bar was too weak and the cabman took up a heavy hammer, and slowly, deliberately rained blows upon the head of the cat. The savage beast lay with blood-shot eyes, and savage look. It squirmed beneath the blows, but at length stretched out its limbs and was, to all appearances, dead. Mr. Seaport ran to a rear room to bathe his head in alcohol. He returned and saw the cat striving to raise itself from the floor. In a moment more it might hand is plugged with a wad of cotton. Mr. Seaport is able to walk about the store; but he has no use of his hands.

CARLISLE'S PLAN.

The Recorder's Redistricting Bill Opposed by Mayor Noonan.

NO WARD CHANGES WANTED TILL AFTER THE CITY ELECTION.

Measure, and Counselor Marshall Says Nobody Else May Alter the Lines-Two Charter Amendments to Be Proposed This Year.

It's safe to predict that the city will not be redistributed into new wards till after the Mayoralty election next spring. The talk of Assemblymen indicates this very plainly. Mayor Noonan wants the wards to stay as they are for a year or two. He has a good and he can sit in his office with W. H. Swift. John B. O'Meara, Hugh Brady, John Lohrum and a few more like them, and work out a campaign like a game of chess. Naturally he wants to keep the wards this way till the next Mayor is elected. He wants to be that Recorder of Voters James L. Carlisle has nearly finished a bill for redistricting the city, and intends to offer it in the Assembly oon. He talks as If he thought it would pas n two or three meetings, but he is too sagacious a politician to believe that, He getting up the bill more force Mayor Noonan's hand than anything force Mayor Noman's hand than anything else. The Council might pass the bill with the assistance of Recorder Carlisle's friend, Councilman W. T. Anderson, but even that is doubtful, for many of the Councilmen are just as much interested in keeping the wards intact as the Mayor himself. The members of the House of Delegates are, almost to a man, opposed to the redistricting.

City Councillor W. C. Marshall and the other lawyers who are attached to the Mayor politically hold that the law at present provides for redistricting only when the Assembly chooses to do it, and offers no way of doing it otherwise, not even by the courte of doing it otherwise, not even by the courts. So the matter will rest finally with the House of Delegates, and that is controlled by the Mayor.

A charter amendment will be offered to the people this year making the sprinkling continue all the year round instead of nine months as it is now. Incongruous as it may seem this matter was discussed to-day by seem this matter was discussed to-day b President George Burnet and Street Com President George Burnet and Street Commissioner M. J. Murphy as they sat in the Board room at the City Hall and looked at the flying snow outside. "We have been intending to do this," said President Burnett, "as soon as the year for a charter election came around, and this is the one."

"I think there will be little or no opposition to it." said Commissioner Murphy, "Every body wants it. The extra sprinkling we do is very unsatisfactory. It is hard to find teams. The contractors all have their men and horses working at something else, and they refuse to take them away from that unless we can promise to give them work for several weeks. He can't do that, of course, and the consequence is that when there comma a day of most annoying dustiness we can get no sprinklers. The increase of the sprinkling would cost only about a cent a foot, and everybody would be glad to pay it."

Downstairs in the House of Delegates several members were talking of proposing another charter amendment.

each committee meeting he attends. Under this system, Assemblymen used to make about $1,500 or $2,000 a year, and it was worth while to be a city legislator. The charter amendment election will be held in June probably.

Mr. Wehner Was Confused. Councilman Charles E. Wehner is Chairman of the Claims Committee of the Upper House, and Councilman W. T. Anderson is one of the members. The committee had two bills before it, one to pay John Harlow $1.500 for being burned in a sewer explosion and the other for the benefit of a laborer whose back had been hurt. In the Council last night Chairman Wehner presented the Harlow bill and graphically described the manner in which he had been hurt and his terrible sufferings. He deserved every cent of the money that was to be paid to him. When he got through Councilman Anderson said the speech was a very pretty one, but Mr. Wehner had got the two bills mixed and had been pleading the cause of the other man, whose bill the committee had not reported. Councilman Wehner tried to recover from his confusion by accusing Councilman Anderson of attempting to cut down Harlow's $1,500 to $1,000."

"Well, I did say that in committee," sait the new Vice-President of the Merchants Exchange, "but I'll take it all back now. want to remind Mr. Wehner, too, that h was as anxious as I to have the amount cu down."

authority never claimed or exercised by any former Governor and derived from an old, unused statute, which has been officially declared void on account of conflict with a more recent enactment directing the manner in which electors shall be appointed.

When a Governor decrees that a State's electors shall be appointed, not as the Legislature has directed, but from districts and in a manner prescribed by him, and claims that he is only carrying out the will of some former Legislature as a ministerial officer, the judicial power can be invoked to determine what the State law or the legislative will on the subject is.

The appointment of seventeen Democratic electors in the manner which the Governor has been advised to adopt, would not only be illegal, in the opinion of more than half the Democrats of Missourl, but the Republicans would make sure that the question should be pending before our own Supreme Court undecided when the electoral votes are counted in February, 1893.

The jingle of sleigh-bells made music in the air last night in St. Louis from the time darkness first fell until well on to the cold stillness of a winter midnight. Deputy Means, one of the Sheriff's officers, who accompanied Graves to the jail on the night of his conviction, now gives this version of the conversation which occurred on the way from the court-room to the prison. 'The doctor's tongue was running all the time, and in his excited condition he may not have realized what he said. Mr. Wilson had the doctor by the arm, and I fell behind. I heard Wilson say to the doctor: 'Colonel Ballou is more guilty than you, and he has put you on to the road to the gallows.' 'That may be so,' said the doctor. Then Dr. Graves wanted to know what his chances were for receiving a new trial through the Supreme Court, and Wilson, replying, said: 'Judging from recent decisions, your chances are slim. You are sure to hang. Now, the best thing for you to do is to come out and make a clean breast of it. Tell who was the instigator of this crime, and who was the instigator of this crime, and there is a possibility that Gov. Routt will extend executive clemency. The doctor stopped short in his walk, turned teward Wilson, and said: 'Mr. Wilson, Col. Ballou is more to blame than I am.' MRS. SWART-ORFF INTERVIEWED. the proceedings rather peculiar?"
"No; that is easily explained. Application was made out for Swart, but the name appeared on record as Smart. So when reporters saw it it did not arrest their attention. The change of the name was not a premeditated trick. My lawyer claims it was due to his cleverness, but that is not in." Mrs. Swart Orff's statement in the Pittsburg interview throws somelighton the mystery of her first marriage, but does not clear it up altogether. She is now sure that her first husband is really dead, but doesn't state what information she has received since her divorce suit was brought, when she was in doubt about it, according to her lawyer and as it would also seem from the advice given her by Mr. Orff. Mr. Swart was in an insane asylum and escaped and then an unknown man was run over by a train and somebody identified his remains as those of Mr. Swart. The body was brought to St. Louis, and Mrs. Swart sent one of her lady friends, who had never seen her husband, to identify the remains from Mr. Swart's plcture, refusing, herself, to go to the under taker's. The lady identified the body and Mrs. Swart, fully convinced that the corpse was that of her husband, had the remains buried. and spirit of Horace Greeley seemed to have control of the situation, for "Go West, young man!" was apparently the countersign for the night. Out Pine street, out Locust, out Washington avenue, and, in fact, out all the great thoroughfares that lead westward, the sleighs went in battalions. Grand avenue was alive with them, King's highway was the scene of a triumphal parade of sleighs, Union avenue had its full share, and Forest Park was a brilliant winter's night picture. And amidst the gay gathering of stylish cutters and fast trotters there were some amusing incidents, mishaps and adventures. that dentify the remains from Mr. Swart's pic-ure, refusing, herself, to go to the under-aker's. The "push" a glorious time last night.
All during the day yesterday telephone messages were going from the City Hall and Four Courts to the boarding-stables ordering the cutters and instructing the liverymen to have the horses "sharpened." Charles Meade, the Deputy Coroner, Jim Butler, the City Attorney; Tom Barrett, Clerk of the House of Delegates; Tom Ward No. 1, John Gilbert, Supply Commissioner; Tim Sculley, Assessor and Collector of Water Rates, and a number-of others made arrangements for a spin over the snow with suppers after. City Attorney Butler backed out because he lost his voice on New Year's Day and did not want to take any chances. The rest picked up a friend here and there and had a very good time and met with no disasters, save Tom Barrett, who drove into the lake at Forest Park. The tale as is told by different authorities varies but the salient point, that Tom Barrett drove into the lake appears in every version. Jim Cronin appeared in the role as rescuer and by some is said to have like Barrett broken the ice. In any event late last night the police telephone rang at the Mounted District Station and a plaintive voice said:

"This is Cronin, and I want help. Tom Barrett and his lady is drove into the lake." Regardless of grammar the Alderman was determined to get help. So urgent was his appeal that the-hoodlum wagon was loaded with blankets, ladders, ropes and other implements and sent at a gallop to Forest Park. The details of what occurred there are somewhat indefinite as Barrett chattered something to the police about not "putting the gang on," and out of charity the police say as little as is consistent with their duty. Cronin and Barrett could not be found to-day and the rest of the push plead ignorance of the affair. If the snow lasts the whole crowd intends making up a party to visit the scene of the disaster. Mrs. Swart thinks that her lawyer should not take the credit of managing the divorce suit in such a manner as to prevent its publication at the time in the newspapers, and leads the reader to infer that it was due to some other person's cleverness, perhaps her own or Mr. Orff's. PUNERAL OF W. A. HARGADINE.

Memory of the Dead Merchant. The body of William A. Hargadine was buried in Bellefontaine Cemetery to-day. The long train of carriages left the residence, 2787 Locust street, at 10:45 o'clock and reached the Church of the Messiah, Garrison choir, under the direction of Mr. Ernest Kroeger, sang the twenty-third Psalm at the entrance of the funeral procession into the church. Rev. Dr. Snyder conducted the services, which consisted of select passages from Scripture and a few pertinent remarks upon the deceased and the occasion. The choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and at the close of the services, "Abide With Me." The church was filled, many being obliged to stand during the ceremonies. The employes of the Hargadine-McKlitrick Dry Goods Co. were present in large numbers, and occupied a reserved space. Several of the omcers of the local militia, in which Mr. Hargadine took a deep interest, attended in their regimentals. RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 6.—A well-known ar-tist, stopping in this city this morning, called attention to what he called the "falling" of ington, situated in a prominent place in the Capitol Square in this city. The monument, which was made by Crawford and unveiled in 1838, is of bronze, and represents Washington on a prancing horse, two of the feet of which rest on the pedestal. The expert thought that the metal on the hoof of the right hind leg hag given way a small fraction of an inch, but thought, if promptly attended to, it could be remedied.

Limit of Patience Reached in the Behring Sea Trouble.

10 of last year, Attorney-General Miller made the announcement before the Supreme Court of the United States that a basis for arbitrating the Behring Sea dimculty had been reached he was saying what, of course, was different questions to be submitted to the ar bitrators. The only matter open for furthe onsideration was the manner in which the arbitrators were to be selected and their number. This, it was confidently believed, would present no serious difficulties. On both sides of the Atlantic gratification was expressed at the prospect of a speedy termination of the pending difficulty. What Attorney-General Miller announced in the course of his argument in the Sayward case in November last, however, no longer holds good. It will be remembered that the agreement he spoke of was not a formal one. In other words, it was not in the nature of a regularly signed treaty. It was simply a series of propositions agreed upon by Secretary Blaine and Sir Julian Pauncefote, reduced to writing, which had received the sanction on the one hand of President Harrison, and on the other of Lord Salisbury. All this has now been upset by demands on the part of Lord Salisbury for further modification of the agreement reached in November.

demands on the part of Lord Salisbury for further modification of the agreement reached in November.

Precisely what the nature of these demands are it is impossible to ascertain to night. That they are touching minor points, however, not heretofore reported by him, seems pretty certain. To that extent they appear frivolous and insincere, rather than based upon sound premises. Indeed, they suggest in an unpleasant manner the policy of delay which has characterized Lord Salisbury's conduct throughout these negotiations, and which, if it was not intended as such, must undoubtedly result in serious loss, financial and otherwise, to the United States.

loss, financial and otherwise, to the United States.
But for the lateness in the season at which the modus vivendi was agreed upon, it would have been impossible for the Canadian poachers to make the headway they did last year. In this respect Lord Salisbury was playing directly into their hands at the expense, of course, of the United States. His present attitude seems to have no other object in view. The sealing season opens in May next. By that time the outfits of the poachers will have been completed and they will be ready to sail. If Lord Salisbury, with his frivolous objections, is able to delay until then the formal signing of a treaty and its ratification by the Senate, he will have gone far toward inflicting a telling blow upon what was once a prosperous American induswhat was once a prosperous absolutely and a source of no inconsiderable revenue to the Government.

There is much complaint that seems we founded by the limited powers conferred Lord Sallsbury upon Sir Julian Pauncefote the negotiation of these matters. Lord Sal bury insists upon having every detail simited to him. There is good reason, ho ever, for believing that the patience of the Government is exhausted. It would be prevalue perhaps, to say anything definite pants of the sleighs. Again, there were the comfortable people who sat in doors by glowing fires and enjoyed hearing the sleigh-bells as they make the crisp air outside thrill with melody. And then there were the livery-stable proprietors, to whom nearly every tinkle of the bells represented an unexpected dollar tumbled into their coffers through the kindness of the weather clerk up above.

It was a great night for sleighing. All day long the snow had been falling steadily, and it fell through the night also, with the air growing colder and more bracing. The streets were deep with snow and house-tops and tree branches received their first uisters of thick white. Just the requisite firmness of crust formed on the surface of the snow that lay on streets, boulevards and suburban roads, and the sleighs whistled shrill as they sped over it. A better night for sleighing hasn't been seen in St. Louis for many years.

The spirit of Horace Greeley seemed to have control of the situation, for "Go West, young man!" was apparently the countersign for the night. Out Pine street, out Locust, out Hon. Col. Prather Speiled a Good Joke-Other Stories.

Gov. Brockmeyer likes a good story and so does Col. Grif Prather. The crowd of which these two gentlemen are distinguished members had long been watching a chance to put up a sell on Gov. Brockmeyer. The audience looked blank and Col. Grif

The snow is beautiful-no one will deny that, but it produces two very bad things: slop and poetry. Frequently these two evils are merged into one. Here is a sample. It was sent to the Post-Dispatch by a special messenger from the City Hall this morning

WHAT NEIGHBORS SAY OF THE MISSING BUTTER DEALERS.

The Men Did a Rushing Business While They Lasted - They Bought Butter at Prices Above Elgin Market Figures-Constable Dolan Finds Little to Levy

Upon-Their Business Methods. The collapse of the wholesale butter house of T. Ellsworth Turner & Co., at 127 Marke was offering half a cent more for butter than the Elgin market price, we expected some thing was wrong," said Mr. B. F. Hudson of the Hudson Bros. Commission Co. yesterday. "Then we looked up his rating with the comrating at all, and then we were more co fraud. Did we have business with them? No, except that we took a couple of consignments of their St. Louis now and we haven't got it yet. No. Turner & Co. didn't pay for the butter. They there was nothing to pay on and turned the rest over to the old-time dealers. They were after bigger profits. All the butter they turned over to us amounted to only about $100 worth. None of it came from Elgin, and none from Michigan. I suppose they flooded the whole country with their circulars."

SHIPPED TO CHICAGO.

Mr. Joseph Hickel of Hickel & Sons, store is only a few doors above Turner & Co.'s vacant quarters, had heard a good deal about the firm, but it was only hearsay information, and he said that he wouldn't repeat it tion, and he said that he wouldn't repeat it for publication. He saw very little of the men in the concern, but noticed that they were doing a big business. At one time they shipped 250 tubs of butter to Chicago, which was worth probably from $4,000 to $5,000. Turner wore a diamond ring and diamond pin, but was not otherwise flashily dressed. He was a good talker and Hickel & Sons saw nothing particularly suspicious shout him. from Second street. All over the front wall is painted the name of the new butter firm in big black letters, with the information that

THE PARTNERS GONE.

Ellsworth Turner and his partner, one J. L.
Martin, had both disappeared and the only man who could give any information about them was Mr. D. P. McCarthy, the Secretary and Treasurer of the disinfecting company.
He said that Turner left Saturday night or Friday night, he couldn't recollect which, for Chicago. His partner, Martin, had goue before him to look after some butter shipped there, so that nobody was left here in care of the store. The office door was left unlocked and when Turner left he asked McCarthy and Lewis to look if there occasionally and see that everything was all right. There wasn't much worth was all right. There wasn't much wors stealing except the safe, but even that migh be carried away.

be carried away.

McCarthy said that Lewis had bought the safe from Turner, taking it and some other property in payment of $50 ewed him by Turner, and he didn't want the Constable to attach it, but Mr. Dolan concluded to attach experiments.

Chicago about three weeks ago. Where Martin came from he didn't know. His first acquaintance with him was when he entered the firm, and he never met Turner until he rented the second floor from him two months ago. He didn't know where either of them lived, or whether they were single ormarried. They both had mustaches without beards, and were about 25 years old and weighed about 145 pounds. He never suspected that there was anything wrong with the house until the constable arrived and took possession of the store.

It is impossible to tell how much Ellsworth, Turner & Co. made out of their three months business in St. Louis, but the lowest estimate given is $10,000. They flooded the country with flaming circulars offering prices for butter, eggs and cheese above the market price. They received a great deal of produce, mostly butter, in response to their circulars. If the stuff was to be paid for on delivery, they refused to receive it or turned it. Over to other dealers, but if nothing was to be paid on it at once they received it and sold it for cash and kept the proceeds.

There is a sensation the Way to find the misde story of the Glendale train robbery, and when the full story of that famous criminal case is told, this sensation will be found to furnish the most intensely interesting chapter of the entire record. It is in the inform of a mystery, and enveloped in that mystery is the identity of a member of the "Glendale gang" who betrayed ihls associates to the police and gave the first information leading to the chase of the gang from st. Louis through Kansas, lowa, Nebraska, lowyoning and Utah to the Pacific Slope.

That there was such an authentic "tip" given to the department here there can be no doubt, because only on the straightest kind of information would the "Glendale gang" have been followed directly across the Continent with such unfaltering confidence in the final results of that chase, as was evidently felt by Chief Harrigan. The "tip" was from the inside, it came dead straight, and it was received by Chief Harrigan within a very few days after that eventful night when the train robbery in the Glendale cut occurred. And since it was first received, the police here have been independent of all other sources of information.

It led to the locating of Marion Hedspeth, Maggie Hedspeth, Adelbert D. Siye and with the necessary papers for the return of the woman to this city.

Chief Harrigan says in regard to the above that Tracy should have arrived in San Francisco last night. There was no reason for delay, as he took the Southern route and could not have been snowbound on the way. The Chief thinks that the news from San Francisco is misleading, and that Tracy is there to-day. The latter will wire to St. Louis as soon as he starts back from the Pacific slope with Maggie Hedspeth. He will also probably be accompanied by a San Francisco officer.

The telegraphic news of an attempt last Wedfresday night to rob a southbound passenger train on the Missouri Pacific in the suburbs of Omaha, as reported this morning? was also brought to Chief Harrigan's attention. The report states that the attempt was made by several masked men, who fired into the train when the engineer refused to stop. Chief Harrigan smiled grimly as he heard the details.

"They're not any of the men we want," he said. "I don't think the Glendale gang is trying to rob any more trains just now."

The committee has gathered enough facts to warrant a very vigorous statement to the board and such a report will be looked for by the directors. The hasty action of the Miller Board will be severely criticised and some important action will be recommended in view of the fact that the Investigation has established the fact that the resolution to sell the Polytechnic property did not receive a majority vote. It has also proved that the property was sold at nigure far below the value of the property. President Bartholdt of the School Board has called a meeting of the chairmen of all the committees for next Friday evening. This is in line with his decision to keep close to all the committees and ascertain what is best for the advancement of public school interests. President Bartholdt has denominated the meeting for Friday evening "cabinet session." He will urge all the chairmen to attend, and make reports regarding the doings and plans of their respective committees. "This plan," he said this morning," will, I hope, have a good effect and enable us all to do something substantial in the way of genuine reform." action of the Miller Board will be severely

I have a few words to say regarding the CUTICUNA REMEDIES. They have cured me in four weeks' time from a Skin and Blood Disease which I have had for over three years. At certain times my skin would be very sore, and always kent cracking and peeting off in white scales. In cold weather my face was one mass of scales. When in the cold air the bain was intense; it would always bring tears to my eyes, and my blood also being in poor condition, with a loss of hair. I have tried every known remedy that was recommended to me, but it was of no use, and very little beneft. So, hearing of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, I concluded to give them a trial. The first application gave almost instant relief. In a few weeks' time I found myself cured, and I am thankful for what they have done for me. Your CUTICURA REMEDIES are a blessing to those who may have an opportunity to use them. I can recommend them to any one.

A New Development in the De Gear Tragedy.

IT IS HINTED THAT MRS. DE GEAR DID THE SHOOTING.

Remarkable Theory Advanced by Two Unknown Women to Undertaker Sheehan-The Coroner's Inquest-West End Burglaries-A Father's Crime-Sweeney Released on Bond.

The investigations of Deputy Coroner Meade into the De Gears tragedy of last Mon-day afternoon, developed a new and somewhat remarkable featureto-day. Chas. de Gears, whose proper name was Joseph-Lakose came here from Syracuse, N. Y., his home, several years ago with his wife, and lived in a small house 2821 Franklin avenue. De Gears was a tile worker and mantel builder Mrs. Annie Davis Aske a Divorce After employed by the St. Louis Mantel & Grate Nine Months' Married Lite.

Three months ago he got into a fight with a man in a saloon and was thrown down. His spine was hurt and for about three months he was confined in St. Luke's Hospital. Paralysis set in and when he was allowed to go out a few weeks ago he used crutches. He asked for work at his old place, but on account of his weak condition they told him to wait, Last Sunday night, while he was at St. Luke's Hospital, Mrs. De Gears sent word to the hospital that she wanted to see her husband and he left the institution.

About 8:80 o'clock Monday afternoon Mrs. De Gears rushed from her house with blood streaming from her face, and someone seeing her, hurried her to Dr. God-he ran to the house. In the sitting

Four bullet holes were seen in his vest, three

The police did nothing in the matter until this afternoon, when Deputy Coroner Meade was told by Undertaker Bensiek that two women who claimed to have known De Gears very well called at the office to see the body last night, and leave some flowers, and while there, they said:

"He did not kill himself. The woman did this."

This remark caused Mr. Bensiek to question them and they asked Mr. Bensiek if he thought an invalid would have strength to shoot himself four times in the bo dy. Not long after these ladies had gone John A. Casserly, city agent for the St. Louis Mantel & Grate Co., called and after looking at the dead body of his former fellow workman said he did not think Charles killed himself.

and rapidly recovering from the wound. An operation was to be performed this morning and the bullet removed.

Mrs. De Gears was seen at the hospital by a Post-Disparch reporter and asked about the remarkable story told by the two women at the inquest. She said:

"The story is untrue. There was no one in the room but my husband and myself. He fired two shots at me, one of which struck me, and I ran out of the room. As I did so he fired another shot which I thought was also intended for me, but if may have have been one of the shots that struck him. There is no truit in the story you repeat to me now."

The identity of the women who tell the remarkable story denied by Mrs. De Gears is not known to the police. Their story is discredited by the fact that no woman would voluntarily disfigure herself by a shot in the

There has been an epidemic of burglaries in the West End within the past few days. The housebreakers have been very successful in October.... housebreakers have been very successful in their hauls, and very fortunate in eluding arrest. Last Sunday the gang that seems to haunt the West End broke into the residence of Mr. Ben Lewis, No. 3219 Morgan street, and entered a second house just around the corner at the same time. A short time afterward they effected an entrance to a third mansion in Vandeventor place.

Mr. Lewis said in regard to his own loss: "Our house was entered through the back kitchen window between 8:30 and 9 o'clock. The catch on the window had been forced, and the house entered in that way. The only thing stolen was silver ware. They did not get as much as they might have obtained because the hired girl came into the house before they had finished their work."

On learning the gentleman was out he said he was giad to hear it, as he had called to steal, and warned Mrs. McAdory to keep quiet. He told her he would choke her if she screamed, and she remained very quiet while the stranger ransacked the parlor and bed-room before her eyes. The Municipal Electric Light Co. Asking for Relief.

THEY WANT $55 MORE PER LAMP FOR LIGHTING THE STREETS.

If They Are Not Paid It They Threaten to Forisit Their Contract-Claim to Be Prominent San Franciscans Begin a Cru-Losing Money-The City Can Take Charge of the Plant-Views of the

has been expected on the part of the comand start again. They will be willing to light the city for $130 a lamp, provided they get the chance. They have not followed out the plan of forfeiture, preferring, it seems. to work their bluff on the city first, and if that ialls then to forfeit their contract. The action of the company places the city athers in an interesting predicament. Mayer Noonan is not in favor of the city's owning its electric light plant, and is opposed to buying the Municipal's outfit. His views are coincided with by a number of the city officials.

To accede to the request of the company made in the bill presented to the Assembly last evening would involve an additional outlay to the city of nearly $2,000,000 before the expiration of the contract, and the increase of lights which will probably follow will run the amount even over that figure.

THE CITY'S UNPLEASANT POSITION.

The The real difficulty of the city's position lies in the fact that the Munciposition lies in the fact that the Muncipal company have repeatedly and almost, one might say, with malice aforethought, violated their contract. The company up to date has failed to put up 244 lamps ordered by superintendent of Lighting A.J. O'Relliey and as the neglect has continued for over thirty days the contract is liable to forfeiture.

The new officers of the company have been under the impression that they had the best of the city under any and all circumstances. The new officers of the company have been under the impression that they had the best of the city under any and all circumstances. They had two reasons for thinking so. In the first place they could easily afford to forfeit their contracts under the penalty of $50,000 and then, owing to the size of their plant, underbid any competitors who would bid against them for the city lighting and yet get a good deal more than the $74.95 they are now receiving.

There is a way, however, in which the city could prevent their taking advantage of them in this manner. Article P of the contract says.

This virtually empowers the city to take charge of the works and run them, deducting the expenses from the money due the company on the contract.

THE COMPANY'S CLAIMS.
The company's repeated assertions that they are losing money by their contract with the city and that to erect any more lights would involve a still greater loss, together with their evident determination to forfeit their contract, makes it appear as though en their evident determination to forfeit eir contract, makes it appear as though is were the only course their contract, makes it appear as though this were the only course open for the city. The city officials are greatly opposed to this course, and neither want to run the works or buy them, as they claim it will cost the city a good deal more than they are getting the work done for at present. Superintendent of Electric Lighting A. J. O'Reilly in speaking of the matter this morning said that although the company was behind hand in the matter of erecting lamps and in neglecting to keep lamps burning, he did not think that the matter had as yet gone far enough to warrant a forfeiture. There were sufficient grounds for the works, and that the policy of this course of action was being deliberated upon, but as yet every one is reluctant to take the first move.

Comptroller Stevenson, it is understood, is yet every one is reluctant to take the first move.

Comptroller Stevenson, it is understood, is greatly opposed to appropriating the works, is the state of the company last night, said this morning that it was one of those bills that will be a long time before the Council. The bill is put in the form of a relief bill and asks the assembly to make what is in reality a contract of that kind which, under the charter, can only be made by the Board of Public Improvements. Looking at the matter in this light the bill is filegal.

The company's next move is being watched for with great interest. The claim of the company that they are doing the work too cheaply will not excite any compassion in the breasts of the City Fathers. The price was their own choosing and they fixed it at a figure where they would not lose any money. The fact that companies in other cities get more money is offset by the term of their contracts, which only run for one year. They run a great risk in the erection of an expensive plant on a short contract. The Municipal company ran no such risk. The great cause of dissatisfaction with the Municipal company really is, that although they may not be making money out of the city, the ever increasing demand for electric light and power offers them an opportunity to make more money in the commercial field. The outlook at present is a tride obscure, the city does not want to run its own electric light works, neither will it give the Municipal an increase of SSS per year on each lamp, without some thoroughly satisfactory reasons which it seems ridiculous to think the company will ever be able to offer. With thelong time their court act has now sude avoring to get for the work. In all probability the cost of lighting will be greatly reduced in a few years by the inventions and improvements which are being companies if no such contract existency reasons which it seems ridiculous to think the company will ever be able to offer. With thelong time their court act has now such so the inventions and improvements formance of "Still Waters Run Deep" by the Kendals and their company. Mrs. Kendal as Mrs. Stambold, J. E. Dobson as Mr. Potter, and Mr. Kendal as John Mildmay, were warmly received, and the performance in most respects gave satisfaction. Sidney Grundy's "A White Lie" is the play for to-night. Olympic Theater last evening for the perto-day. Many St. Louis dealers were present, and there were a number from othe places. The day was spent in considerin questions relating to rates. picked one of them up loaded it, and making the remark "I believe I'll try it beforel pay for it," suck the muzzle be-tween his eyes and pulled the trigger. The ball went crashing through the skull and death resulted in a few moments. Family troubles are supposed to be the cause of the suicide.

WHAT THE PATIENT SAYS: "I have been a constant sufferer for years (from about Nov. 1st until the fol-lowing June) from severe colds in my head and throat; in fact, the whole mu-cous tissue from the nose, down to and Including the bronchial tubes, were more or less affected. It was fast developing into CHRONIC CATARRH. I had tried EXTRACT. I snuffed it up my nose and inhaled it; gargled my throat with it and swallowed it. It relieved me wonderfully and has effected almost a radical cure. I have used it for burns, bruises, and sprains, and believe it invaluable in such cases. Arrested for Forgery.

Thomas R. Tracy, an advertising solicitor who has gained unenviable notoriety around was arrested last night by Officer Lett on a charge of forgery. The charge was preferred by Jacob Enderle, a saloonkeeper. Tracy, so the story goes, entered Ohnsorg & Enderle's saloon on New Year's Day and after buying a lot of drinks found he had not enough money to settle his bill. He offered the proprietor a check for $88, payable to himself and signed R. T. Etavard. It was accepted and Tracy was given the difference. When the check was presented it was pronounced a forgery. Last night Tracy entered the saloon and was at once accused by Enderle. He made his escape, but was after-

He quit driving for the company on Oct. 8, and says he stole all the goods during the last two months he was in the company's employ.

Gansert, an aged German in the em-Association, while pulling a truck along the tracks, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, slipped and fell, striking his bead against the platform, rendering him unconscious. He was removed to St. Luke's Hospital, where his wounds were dressed and pronounced serious, but not necessarily fatal.

At 8:80 o'clock this morning, while Officer harand Reagan was walking his beat, he slipped on the ice and fell, spraining his ankie. He was removed to his home, 2563 Warren street, where Dr. Wilcox dressed his injury and pronounced it not serious.

The remains of George Kreis, the 6-yearof 1 son of John Kreis, a cigar manufacturer, living on Clark avenue, near Leffingwell, will be brought to the city to-day. The little will be brought to the city to day. The little fellow was instantly killed at Duluth, Minn., Inst Monday by falling from the sixth story window of his grandmother's residence. He was reaching out for icicles at the time and lost his hold on the icy window sill. The body will be buried in Bellefontaine Cemetery alongside of that of his mother, who was accidentally killed by a locomotive near Webster about eight months ago.

James G. Sheridan, who ranks as the best entioned as the possible successor of Cald well on the Board of Control tracks, now that the latter has decided to stick to the Guttenburg course, notwithstanding the fact that it will prevent him from officiating at any of the big tracks the com-Sheridan is in at present and when asked in New York the other day what his answer would be, should the board of control decide that it could not be, as he was under contract for as much time as he cared to devote to the business. This narrows the question of Caldwell's successor down to three men, namely, J. B. Ferguson, Jack Chinn and Jimmy Rowe, the trainer. According to last reports the last named is the man. Rowe trained for the Dwyer brothers for sev-eral years. Afterward he handled the horses of the late August Belmont with much success. He has done starting at different periods, but has never been known as starter for any length of time at a stretch. What starting he has done, however, has been generally satisfactory? While Caldwell is a great starter he has had many drawbacks. He is an extremely overbearing man backs. He is an extremely overbearing man backs. He is an extremely overbearing man and lets his temper and prejudices get the better of his judgment. He usually gets the horses off to a good start in big stakes, but is frequently indifferent in minor events. He is particularly apt to lose his temper and let he horses go to any kind of a start. Rowe, with practice, may turn out a more valuable man. In the West turfmen generally think Sheridan the best man in the business, Caldwell not excepted. They hold that Sheridan has a much better disposition than Caldwell and reversell out the property of the p never allows his temper to sway him. There is nothing which can be urged against Sheri-

Gave Himself Up.

Patrick Ryan, who claims to be a deserter from the United States Army, walked into the Third District Station last evening and gave himself up. He said that he had served through the Geronimo campaign and other indian outbreaks while a member of Company D. Thirteenth Regiment, stationed at Fort Wingate, N. M. He was confined in the guard house from which he made his scaape. He made his way to Chicago and obtained work but was hounded to death by men who had served in the same regiment with him who bled him of all his earnings under threats of exposing him. Rather than submit to this any longer he gave himself up and was willing to stand the punishment.

A cablegram from London says that a distive of the Melbourne Athletic Club from the ard of Directors of that organization authorizing him to announce that the club will hang up a purse of £2,000 for a contest between Joe Goddard, the "Barrier Champion" and either Ted Pritchard or Charley Mitchell, and allow £250 expenses to the man accepting. The London cablegram goes on to state that Pritchard has declined the offer, claiming that Goddard is not in his class. The club's representative has in consequence cabled Mitchell, whose answer is now awaited. It is hardly likely that the latter will notice the offer, as he has gone on record in black and white that he is not after a fight, and has his hands full managing Frank Slavin. The Melbourne Athletic Club will have to look elsewhere than to Mitchell if it wants a finish fight.
